The Origins of the Comedy Wildlife Photography Awards

The Comedy Wildlife Photography Awards (CWPA) was founded in 2015 by Paul Joynson-Hicks and Tom Sullam with the aim of showcasing wildlife in a humorous light while also promoting conservation awareness. Unlike traditional wildlife photography competitions that focus on beauty and grandeur, the CWPA celebrates the lighter, more whimsical moments that happen in nature. The organizers believe that humor is a powerful tool for engaging the public, especially younger audiences, in wildlife conservation efforts.

The competition has grown exponentially over the years, attracting thousands of entries from amateur and professional photographers worldwide. Each year, a panel of judges selects images that demonstrate not only photographic skill but also comedic timing and originality. The winning photos are shared widely on social media, often going viral and sparking conversations about wildlife and environmental issues.

The Power of Humor in Wildlife Photography

Humor in wildlife photography serves multiple purposes:

- Engagement: Funny images capture viewers' attention and evoke emotional responses, making conservation messages more memorable.
- Relatability: Animals displaying human-like expressions or behaviors create a sense of connection between viewers and wildlife.
- Awareness: Highlighting humorous moments can draw attention to species or habitats that need conservation.
- Joy and Entertainment: In a world filled with serious environmental challenges, laughter provides a welcome respite and encourages positive engagement.

The combination of these factors has made the CWPA a unique platform that blends art, comedy, and conservation.

- The 'Confused' Crocodile

A photograph of a crocodile with its head tilted to one side, seemingly puzzled, became an internet sensation. The image was taken during a wildlife cruise on the Nile, where the crocodile's curious gaze and slightly crooked jaw created a comically confused appearance.
