- Flexibility in subject choices to cater to diverse learner interests and career aspirations.
- Emphasis on continuous assessment alongside summative examinations.

Curriculum Structure and Subjects

The NSC curriculum is organized into various learning areas, each designed to develop specific competencies and knowledge bases. These areas are subdivided into compulsory and elective subjects.

Compulsory Subjects

Learners are required to complete a core set of subjects, typically including:

- First Additional Language (e.g., isiZulu, Afrikaans, English, etc.)
- Home Language (usually the language of instruction)
- Mathematics or Mathematical Literacy
